HOUSE DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO BACK SALES TAX AS LAST RESORT IN FIGHT TO BALANCE BUDGET

ELDERLY COUPLE, BLINDED BY RAIN, DIE UNDER WHEELS

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Maddox, Well Known DeKalb Residents, Walking Down Highway When Struck by Auto.

JAKE SHAW, DRIVER, HELD BLAMELESS

Investigation Shows Accident Unavoidable; Couple Dragged 50 Feet Before Car Is Stopped.

Blinded by the rain, a 76-year-old man and his 65-year-old wife were instantly killed early Monday night when they were struck by an automobile on the main street of Tucker, near where they resided. They were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Maddox, widely known residents of DeKalb county.

Jake Shaw, 24, of Midway, a town near Tucker, was the driver of the car which killed the couple. He was absolved from all blame by DeKalb county officers, who, after an investigation, said the accident was unavoidable. No case was made by police.

Officers P. N. Turner and C. P. Ford said Mr. and Mrs. Maddox had been to a store in Tucker to make some purchases and were on their way home. They left the store and started walking down the highway and were struck by Shaw's car, both being dragged more than 50 feet before the machine could be stopped on the wet pavement. Mr. Maddox's neck was broken and his wife was injured about the head, it was said. They were both dead when the bodies were taken from beneath the car.

Shaw is a member of a well-known DeKalb county family and was returning to his home from Atlanta, it was said. He was accompanied by Russell Weed and Emory Chambliss, both of DeKalb county.

Mr. Maddox, a resident of DeKalb county all of his life, was engaged in farming, and was widely known in the county and in Decatur. The couple made their home a short distance from Decatur on the main highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Maddox had been married nearly a quarter of a century, and had three sons, Tom Maddox, of Joppy, Ala., and Will and Harvey Maddox, of Tucker, and a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Bush, all of Alabama, where she resided before coming to Georgia. Both were members of the Reformed church, near the Gwinnett county line, and had been active in its affairs for many years.

The bodies were taken in charge by A. S. Turner, Decatur funeral director, who will announce funeral arrangements.

Woodward Will Visit Atlanta on Way Home

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Admiral Clark H. Woodward, who until recently was commandant of a special revenue service squadron in Nicaragua, and Mrs. Woodward, will leave tomorrow by air for Brownsville, Texas, en route to Washington.

Admiral Woodward said that after two weeks in Washington he would go to Panama to take charge of a special revenue squadron there.

Every United States marine and every portable bit of marine equipment, he said, would be gone from Nicaragua by January 2. He added that when he left last week evacuation of the American forces was proceeding rapidly.

Most of the planes that have been in use there will be returned to the United States, he said. Two or three may be sent to Panama.

Admiral and Mrs. Woodward will fly to Washington, making a brief stop in Atlanta.

HOLIDAY MISHAPS CLAIM 355 LIVES; SCORES INJURED

Sixty Persons Killed in South; Automobile Accidents and Gunfire Lead in Causes.

By the Associated Press.

Along the roads of the nation, the Christmas week-end brought many deaths and injuries, inevitable by-products of a holiday that lured thousands to city boulevard and country pike.

The tabulation from Associated Press reports across the 48 states indicated a loss of 355 lives incidental to heavy travel or accidents that might have occurred at any time. Seven deaths occurred in Georgia. The south's death toll was 60.

By far the greatest price was exacted in motor traffic accidents. Many parts of the land enjoyed bright, warm weather, some the warmest Christmas Day they had known. In other regions icy roads tricked motorists with tragic result. At least 160 persons died in automobile mishaps during the double holiday.

Moweaqua, Ill., was smitten with the greatest single sorrow as it hunted through tangled debris deep underground for the bodies of its dead. Fifty-four miners were caught in the mine by a gas explosion Saturday. The bodies of 39 had been brought out late Monday. Hope that some might live was dwindling.

A few holiday celebrants drowned, some falling through ice while skating.

'Electric Dollar' Proposed As Cure for Economic Ills

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A new kind of money, the "electric dollar," with its value based on electrical energy instead of gold, was proposed as one way to do away with depressions before the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

It would be issued in the form of currency like the paper money now in use and would end depressions because it would always purchase approximately the same amount of goods as the American dollar.

He predicted the "electric" money would "end abruptly" the wide fluctuations of prices which result from alternate hoarding and releasing of gold supplies, a practice he declared responsible for depressions such as that of the present.

The "electric dollar" would be valued in terms of kilowatt hours, the units by which electricity is measured and which Dr. Norton said are

STATUS OF POSTS FILLED BY RUSSELL PUZZLES LEADERS

Some Political Observers Insist That New Nominations Must Be Made by Incoming Governor.

The question of whether or not Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge will be called upon to name an entire new board of regents, a new board of control and two of the three members of the revenue commission as well as five new assistant attorneys-general caused considerable comment in political circles Monday, despite the holiday.

The chief question being discussed Monday seemed to be:

Are the appointments of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. dead when the senate which should have confirmed or rejected them goes out of existence?

Those who feel that the ad interim appointments cannot be sent to the next senate for consideration point out that the situation now is like that of appointments of President Hoover which the senate will not confirm during its current session. Under the federal law these appointments end with the term of the appointing officer. Whether the same holds true for state appointments which were not confirmed because of the failure of the senate to meet could not be definitely established Monday.

Talmadge Studying Law.

An Associated Press story from Atlanta Sunday revealed that Mr. Talmadge was studying the provisions of the reorganization bill which created the three boards for the purpose of managing the university system, the elementary institutions and the maintaining of the revenue department as well as looking into the law governing the appointment of the first assistant attorney-general.

Until Sunday it was understood that the new governor would have the appointment only of those members of the board of regents and board of control who were named by two-term terms, but it was generally understood that because of the naming of a new attorney-general he also would have appointment of the five new assistants.

The law creating the board of regents and the board of control provides that the members of the two boards shall be named by the governor and confirmed by the senate. The law providing for the tax commission provides that the commission shall be composed of the comptroller general, elected by direct vote of the people, and two commissioners appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate.

Observers Monday were agreed that the names of members of the board of regents and of the board of control shall be named by the governor and confirmed by the senate. The law providing for the tax commission provides that the commission shall be composed of the comptroller general, elected by direct vote of the people, and two commissioners appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate.

Terrorists' Bullets Rake Gotham Cafes

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Bullets were fired and missiles were hurled through the windows of 14 chain restaurants in Manhattan and Brooklyn today by a gang of terrorists in an automobile.

A short-wave radio alarm was broadcast to all police and fire departments and all forces were warned to be on watch for the gangsters.

Some of the restaurants (operated by Hagan and Harriet and Richard) are located in the mid-town Broadway district and are among the largest operated by the chains.

The management of one of the chains (Rickford) denied they had any labor trouble.

Police said the shooting apparently was done with a small caliber rifle.

Davis Is Optimistic Over Arms Cut Outlook

Roosevelt Hears Cheerful Report From American Delegate to Geneva Conference. Success Is Predicted.

By FREDERICK A. STORM.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 26.—(UP)—An optimistic report on world arms reduction as the first step toward international economic recovery was laid before President-elect Roosevelt tonight by Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the Geneva conference.

Davis came here from Washington to meet the governor, who cut short a Christmas vacation to be on hand at the executive mansion.

The visit of Davis gave rise to discussion in well-informed circles that the Roosevelt administration was prepared to press for substantially the same program as that sponsored by President Hoover.

The governor indicated he was impressed with the present administration's arm reduction policies, which emphasize security through a slash in the effectiveness of highly developed engines of war.

While Davis was reluctant to speak "for the record," he let it be known he was looking for major developments toward accord with world powers that would clarify the atmosphere for the international economic conference the coming summer in London.

He did say, however, "The ground work really has been prepared for an agreement toward disarmament that would restore confidence and lighten the tension. There can be no healthy business until you restore confidence. Confidence is the basis of all credit."

He commented upon the achievement in having Germany take her place around the conference table at Geneva, and also remarked upon the way in which France was leaning toward the disarmament question.

This led Roosevelt to observe that "France, above all things, wants security. In 1919, during the early part of the Paris peace negotiations, Paris was just beginning to discuss the future security of France."

U. S. Court Attache for 59 Years Was Known Throughout Country.

Olin Coffin Fuller, for the last 59 years deputy clerk and clerk of federal courts here and whose record of service extended longer than any other federal court clerk in the country, died Monday at his home, 112 Peachtree circle, after a long illness. He was 76 years of age.

Mr. Fuller, by virtue of his long period of service and his wide knowledge of federal court procedure, was perhaps the best known court clerk in the country. He first was appointed by the late Circuit Judge H. McCoy and named to the district court when the circuit court became an appellate body and the lower court was established.

The veteran clerk trained many federal court clerks now in service in other states. Many judges, upon appointing their clerks, either sent them to Atlanta where Mr. Fuller gave them instructions, or he might write him in order that he might acquaint them with the fundamental principles of the federal courts.

Mr. Fuller was born at Lee Center, a suburb of Chicago, Ill., on October 28, 1856. Immediately after the civil war he moved with his family to Georgia and located at Marietta, where they lived for several years. He began his professional career there, serving as a postoffice clerk.

Moving to Atlanta, Mr. Fuller became a railway mail clerk, running on the Southern between Atlanta and Charlotte for several years. During his time in the railway mail service he was in the habit of visiting himself in civic affairs and was a member of one of the volunteer fire companies which served Atlanta's needs many years ago.

Redfern Reported Living With Tribe Of Docile Indians in Interior Brazil

PARA, Brazil, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Charles Hasler, an explorer and adventurer, reported today he had heard rumors that Paul Redfern, American aviator who disappeared five years ago while attempting a non-stop flight from the United States to Rio de Janeiro, is living with the docile, semi-civilized Indians in the Rio Matto region near the borders of the Brazilian states of Amazonas and Matto Grosso.

MEANS TO INSURE LEGALITY OF BEER SOUGHT IN SENATE

Subcommittee Studies Constitutional Phases of Measure To Forestall Court Reversal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee was set to work today on the constitutional phases of the Jouse 3.2 per cent beer bill to speed up consideration of the measure when congress returns.

Senator Blaine, Wisconsin republican, who heads the subcommittee, promptly announced a plan for revising the house measure so that it would repeal, rather than amend the provisions of the Volstead law limiting the alcoholic content in beverages to one-half of one per cent.

This would result, in case the supreme court held 3.2 per cent beer unconstitutional, in leaving the statute books clear instead of reverting to the present Volstead limitation of one-half of one per cent.

Formal action on the beer bill was blocked when a quorum of the senate judiciary committee failed to materialize for the meeting called by Chairman Norris to take up the measure.

Blaine asked Norris to refer the bill to a subcommittee, but the chairman objected, saying he thought it would expedite consideration of the measure to have it considered by the full committee.

Blaine then proposed that Norris authorize a subcommittee to study the constitutional questions involved, to save time. This was agreed to, and the chairman designated Blaine's subcommittee which already is working on the draft of a prohibition repeal resolution.

Norris said he would call another meeting of the committee on Wednesday in another effort to get a quorum and begin formal consideration of the bill.

The committee chairman refused to commit himself on a request from Edwin C. Dinwiddie, a prohibition leader, for a hearing on the bill saying there were reports opponents of the bill had been making speeches for the purpose of delay.

Change Sought.

The house bill would change the wording of the Volstead act from one-half of one per cent to 3.2 per cent. It also proposed to delete the constitutional Volstead law would retain its present status.

Under Blaine's proposal, if the 3.2 per cent measure is passed, the repeal section of the bill would stand and there would be no enforcement percentage until congress acted again.

Contracts made under the 3.2 per cent would then be enforceable, and there would not be thousands of dollars of loss.

Sought for Murder, Dentist Takes Life

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The body of Dr. Squire P. Bevier, sought for the slaying of Mrs. Josephine E. Bevier, 71, last Thursday in Dr. Bevier's dental office here, was found today in a garage in the rear of the dentist's home, Chief of Police Joseph A. Gerk announced.

Dr. Bevier had shot himself through the heart, a pistol having been found near his hand, police said. A coroner's assistant said that the condition of the body indicated that Dr. Bevier apparently had killed himself late last night or early this morning.

Discovery of the body was made after a police detail visiting the residence near the garage door, the residence, which had been open yesterday, was closed and locked this morning. Entrance was forced and the body of the dentist was found slumped in the seat of an old automobile in the rear of the garage.

ALL HOPE FADES FOR MINERS HELD IN ILLINOIS SHAFT

27 More Bodies Are Removed; 15 Others Remain; Fresh Air Gives Hope But It Also Dies.

MOWEAQUA, Ill., Dec. 26.—(AP)—All hope was abandoned tonight for the 34 miners entombed in Moweaqua's community mine by a blast that sealed the diggings the day before Christmas. Rescue workers ceased their activities tonight until tomorrow morning.

Twenty-seven bodies were found today; 12 were carried to the surface and 15 remain in the north wing of the tunnel, entombed beyond the most fragile chance of survival.

It was made known today that the north wing where the explosion occurred is a dead end, and the 15 unaccounted for.

The dull ache of waiting for word from the as-filled tomb was sharpened by reality today as the message came from below that 27 more miners had been found, dead.

Moweaqua, not daring to hope, sent down its relays of rescue crews to try to reach the trapped miners. Under twisted timbers that might fall at any moment and add to the list of dead.

A breath of fresh air fanned hope into flame this morning.

Fresh air, pumped in by the rescuers as they burrowed along the south wing of the "T"-shaped tunnel, met a baricade and blew back upon the faces of the sweating crew. A baricade ahead—perhaps it meant there were men lying beyond it, saved.

Cool, Cloudy Weather Predicted for Today

Gray skies and slightly cooler temperatures were predicted for Atlanta today, following a somewhat cooler Monday. No rain was in sight for the city, weather reports said, at least for a few days.

Following a damp Christmas, when intermittent showers fell, the mercury took a drop from the summer-like temperatures of 70 degrees Sunday afternoon. A low reading this morning of around 40 degrees was expected. The forecast for south Georgia predicted rains for two more days.

ROOSEVELT'S HAND IS SEEN IN SWITCH ON REVENUE PLANS

Collier, of Ways and Means Committee, Says He Still Dislikes Levy But Thinks It Must Be Invoked.

HOOPER BEER VETO MAY FORCE ACTION

Leaders Report Canvass of Once Hostile House Indicates Changed Attitude on Proposed Tax.

By THOMAS L. STOKES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—The house democratic leadership decided suddenly today to revive the manufacturers sales tax rejected last session and to attempt to put it through at the present short session to balance the budget.

Direct instructions from President-elect Roosevelt to Speaker John N. Garner, it is understood, are responsible for this surprising reversal of policy. The decision today, announced by Chairman James W. Collier, of the ways and means committee, was the first intimation of Roosevelt's acceptance of the sales tax. He remained silent on this controversial issue during the campaign and has given no public indication of his views since.

Collier, who has been a consistent foe of the sales tax, said today that it appears to be the only type of revenue legislation adopted to balance the budget. He estimated $500,000,000 in new revenue will be needed.

"I will say that the budget must be balanced at this session," Collier added, emphatically, which was echoed by the speaker.

Democratic leaders previously indicated they would resist any continuation of the 1-cent a gallon gasoline tax and the prospective beer tax to reports, apparently well substantiated, from the White House that President Hoover will veto a beer bill, and that it is doubtful there are not enough votes to pass the measure over a presidential veto.

Despite previous developments pointing to some sort of revenue legislation at this session, Roosevelt's change of attitude to appear clearly today in the determination of democratic leaders to revive a controversial sales tax and last year wrecked the measure and left Garner with only about a third of his democrats supporting him.

Collier indicated that democratic leaders are now in a position to consider the situation, despite the Christmas recess.

Chicago Schoolboy Dies in 17-Story Leap

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—John Phillips, 17-year-old schoolboy, died in a 17-story leap today. He tore himself from the grasp of a maid who sought to stop him and plunged from a window of the Phillips apartment, a fashionable place near Central Park. No motive for the act was discovered.

The boy's father is Harold M. Phillips, attorney.

Chevalier, M'Divani Named in Tax Suits

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The names of Maurice Chevalier, French film actor, and David M'Divani, Georgian prince, were included in a long list of income tax liens filed today by Galen Welch, internal revenue collector.

The government sued Chevalier for $475 as unpaid tax on his 1930 income and M'Divani for $72 on his 1931 tax.

ALL HOPES FADE FOR MINE VICTIMS

from the deadly gases by a blockade that formed a refuge.

Hope of saving the men. There was no time for clearing a way through the shambles. They could only wriggle and squirm on through the dark bore, risking life to save what life was left ahead.

The hope vanished on the lethal air of that tomb. The rescue workers came upon a body, then another and another—27, at last, were counted; all dead, not of the flames that snuffed out the lives of the 12 found at the intersection of the "T" Sunday, but dead of the after-effects that poured through the tunnels as the men ran from their mine car to escape the fumes.

Only then was it made known that the north wing of the tunnel, where the explosion focused its fury, had been sealed. In that death chamber lay the 15 entombed miners.

The death toll of 54 was the largest in any mine explosion within this state. It was not the greatest catastrophe, however, for fire in the Cherry Hill mine November 13, 1909, cost 267 lives.

The Christmas Eve disaster numbed this community of 1,400.

When Glenn S. Chaffer, owner of the property, shut down the workings 18 months ago, Moweaqua was deprived of its one industry. Businessmen and miners determined to keep it alive, else the community would lose its livelihood. They agreed to lease it from Schaffer and keep the diggings open on a co-operative basis.

For the last week the pits had been operating at full time with 102 miners. But Saturday, last day before Christmas, only 54 went to work. Angelo Tuntini owed his life to a last-minute whim. He went down to the pits, checked in for work, then thought he'd take the day off and ride out into the country to buy a turkey for his wife. Sixty men were working in the pits through the tortuous mile and a quarter from the main shaft to the place where the bodies lay. Hours of work lay before them, and it would be many hours before the last of the dead could be brought from the south tunnel. There remained, still, the task of clearing the air in the south wing and locating the victims there.

The trunk of the "T" is three-quarters of a mile long, each wing another half mile in extent.

Fathers, brothers, sons were among the dead. Made orphans by the disaster were Anderson and Herbert McDonald, 13 and 15; their mother already dead, their father and 20 brothers in the mine—Charles R. McDonald, Charles J. and Carl McDonald.

The city council made plans for a national appeal in behalf of the paralyzed community, the widows and children left without support, and the American Red Cross started relief work among them.

Through the windows of an empty store, four blocks from the mine mouth, could be seen rows of gray caskets ready to receive Moweaqua's dead.

Grady hospital emergency clinic had one of the busiest days in its history Monday when a series of post-Christmas accidents brought more than 20 patients to the hospital during the day. Chief among the causes for treatment were firecracker burns and falls while skating.

Those treated for firecracker burns were:

Mrs. J. A. Russell, 37, of 404 Capitol street, left arm.

Martha Doss, 10, 805 7th avenue, right arm.

San Hardeman, 11, of 1436 Meridian avenue, left arm.

'AMNESIA' SUFFERER ARRESTED IN THEFT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Two weeks ago a self-styled amnesia victim, who told police he had no memory of his past, was arrested here and asked authorities to help him establish his identity.

Sunday a detective arrested him at his home and from him learned that Oullette, who was wanted on an embezzlement charge at Bristol, R. I.

Memphis police said the man had been recognized by Bristol authorities by his photograph. Police added that they had received a telegram from Bristol police that an embezzlement warrant would be sent here for the man.

Oullette said he remembered nothing of Bristol, his family or his work. He said he would waive extradition.

Boy, Struck by Ax, In Critical Condition

His head crushed when he was accidentally struck by an ax in the hands of his father, Herschel Lawson, 19, of 579 Cooper street, was admitted to Grady hospital early Monday night in a critical condition. Physicians immediately performed an emergency operation.

Roy H. Lawson, the boy's father, said he was cutting wood in the rear yard when he heard his son's cry for help behind him as he swung the ax over his shoulder. The back of the ax hit the boy's head.

SAVANNAH WATCHMAN Is Slain by Negro

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—John Y. Smith, 36, night watchman at a dry cleaning plant, was shot and fatally wounded here tonight by a negro who apparently shot him without warning. The negro escaped.

Smith was sitting in front of the place when attacked.

Smith, armed with a .25 caliber automatic pistol, emptied his gun on the negro. Two .32 caliber bullets from the negro's gun hit Smith under the left arm, ranging upward to the heart. He died 35 minutes after being wounded.

The shooting happened within 100 yards of the central Georgia hospital. After being hit, Smith went into the dry cleaning plant, turned on the lights, came out, looked the front door and then walked into the hospital. He gave his name, said "I'm shot," and then collapsed on the floor.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A finding of murder and suicide was returned by the coroner today in the death of Clair Penney and his wife, who were found shot to death in bed at their home here last night. Both were about 35 years old.

Penney was said by police to have threatened to commit suicide numerous times and several months ago wounded a friend who prevented him from taking his own life.

TURKEY CAUSES CRASH

Ernest Robinson, of Penn Yan, N. Y., driving his automobile home from a turkey raffle in which he had won three plump turkeys, was congratulating himself over his good fortune. Suddenly one of the birds broke loose, flapped its wings in Robinson's eyes, causing him to lose control of the automobile which crashed into another, parked on the side of the road. Considerable damage was done to both automobiles, Robinson reported.

A knee-bracing, rubber-stepped steel ladder was among the new household devices shown at the autumn sample fair in Leipzig, Germany.

"Undue Specialization" Scored By Dr. Butler

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, in his annual report as president of Columbia University Sunday, said that "early and undue specialization of study and interest" among students is the "most active and deadly foe of scholarship."

Declaring "scholarship is full and accurate knowledge in its historic and philosophic setting," Dr. Butler said specialization will have none of these.

"It is, too, often exclusively gain-seeking, is constantly described as 'excessively practical,' which is one of the ways of asserting that it is at war with the reflective life of man," Dr. Butler said.

Several died in fires and explosions, and there were the usual victims of violence. Three boys killed fathers and brothers in Illinois, two of the killings brought on by intoxicants. Trains killed a few, probably no more than on any day of heavy motoring.

The tally of deaths reported through the Associated Press Monday, without including the unnumbered deaths in the mine disaster, showed: Automobile accidents, 181; trains, 9; gunfire, etc., 36; fires and explosions, 11; drownings, 15; other deaths, 100; total, 355.

Arkansas reported 11 deaths, five by drowning, five by fire and one by electrocution, was the heaviest loser in the south.

North Carolina came next with no fatalities, seven resulting from automobile accidents, one person killed by a train, and one accidentally shot.

Florida and Louisiana reported seven deaths each. Automobiles killed six in Florida and one parachute jumper died when his shroud lines tangled.

Louisiana's total of seven included three by automobile accidents, one by a train, one by fire, one by a fall off a stepladder, and one by suffocation caused by a grain of corn in a man's windpipe.

Six of the seven deaths in Georgia were caused by automobiles and the other by a train. Officers tentatively listed one man among the automobile victims, but said he might have been slain and the body disposed so as to make it appear he had been struck by an automobile.

Virginia, with five automobile deaths and one by accidental shooting, duplicated Georgia's total.

Four automobile deaths and one drowning gave Tennessee a total of five fatalities. The same figure was reached in South Carolina by two shootings, two deaths in automobile mishaps, and one fatality caused by a train.

Alabama reported three deaths, all due to automobile accidents, six died in automobile accidents, six from drowning, five from poison, four from train mishaps and accidental shootings, and one each from several other causes.

The biggest family tragedy was the poisoning of five persons at Newport Ark., ascribed by officers to Christmas cake. The victims were Walter Ballew, his wife and three sons. Eight pounds of an insect poison were found in the attic of their home, but whether Mrs. Ballew used it in the cake by accident or someone placed it there by design had not been determined.

Seventeen of the fatalities were reported Monday and the others Sunday.

Suddenly one of the birds broke loose, flapped its wings in Robinson's eyes, causing him to lose control of the automobile which crashed into another, parked on the side of the road. Considerable damage was done to both automobiles, Robinson reported.

A knee-bracing, rubber-stepped steel ladder was among the new household devices shown at the autumn sample fair in Leipzig, Germany.

GARNER PREDICTS SPECIAL SESSION

Hoover Vetoes May Force Call by Roosevelt, Speaker Declares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Reports that President Hoover would not approve democratic-sponsored farm relief and beer legislation at this session led Speaker Garner to express the personal opinion that prospects of avoiding an extra meeting of the new congress were "not bright."

The democratic vice president-elect said he was "hopeful that an extra session will not be necessary," but that "if one may judge by reports and interpretations newspaper editors everywhere, from the executive and his close advisors, the prospects do not look bright to me personally."

On the basis of these reports, Garner said he was doubtful whether the chief executive would approve such measures if they were passed at the short session. The house agriculture committee is planning to submit a farm bill for action shortly, and the beer measure is pending in the senate, having already been approved by the house.

"Nine out of ten men would like to see a program of comprehensive legislation passed at this session looking toward relief of the country," Garner said. "They want the budget balanced and I believe they want carried out the mandate of the people as reflected in the November election as quickly as possible."

"That would give Governor Roosevelt a chance to survey the situation and we could go along until next December."

"We promised to submit the eighth amendment immediately—the republicans used the word 'promptly' in their platform," he continued.

"We promised to modify the Volstead law immediately. The republicans said little about that. Both platforms promised agricultural legislation. Judging by what you hear," he said, "the president probably would not sign a farm bill worked out by us. (Democrats.)"

Call Demanded.

"We would be obligated to call an extra session, in my personal opinion, to carry out our promises if they are not enacted at the present session."

He stressed if the democratic platform to balance the budget, and provide beer and farm legislation were "permitted to pass," at this session, President-elect Roosevelt would have an opportunity to see what was needed before drafting his recommendations to the seventy-third congress in December.

Although the house defeated the democratic outright repeal proposal by six votes, Garner indicated that if the senate accepted the proposition at this session, another opportunity might be granted for a vote in his branch.

MEANS TO INSURE LEGALITY OF BEER SOUGHT IN SENATE

dealers throughout the country subject to prosecution, he said.

This method, also, would "take the question of constitutionality out of the bill to some extent," he said.

The subcommittee chairman said the first question he wanted to study was whether "if in the absence of an arbitrary, factious or capricious finding by the congress as to what degree of alcohol constitutes an intoxicating beverage, will the supreme court look beyond the finding of congress?"

"If the supreme court holds that congress has taken into consideration a sufficiency of evidence and having found what is not intoxicating, the court can say we will not disturb the finding of congress," Blaine added.

Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, leader of the republican anti-prohibition bloc who sought an immediate vote in the senate, last week on the beer bill expressed disappointment at failure of a quorum of the judiciary committee to appear.

Mr. Bingham said, "I said, 'that a majority of the members of the judiciary committee could not give up their Christmas holiday to a consideration of this legislation which requires expenditure if it is to be enacted at this session.'"

Chattahoochee High, And Rising Rapidly

Already as high as it was two weeks ago during the Georgia "flood" period, the Chattahoochee river was reported rising fast Monday night by Ed McGill, veteran riverman, who has gained fame by the number of persons he has rescued from the river waters.

Rains here and to the northeast today will force the river several feet above the point reached at the time parts of Rome, submerged by one of its rivers, McGill said.

J. J. PEAVY, 70, DIES; WAS PIONEER CITIZEN

J. J. Peavy, 70, of 563 Highland avenue, N. E., pioneer At'antan and one of the oldest members of the Rock Spring Presbyterian church, died Monday night at his residence. He has been ill for several weeks. He was active in the church, in which his father also had been an active member during his lifetime. Mr. Peavy was a retired carpenter.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. R. L. Smith and Mrs. H. H. St. John; two sons, D. J. and J. H. Peavy; and four grandchildren, Louise St. John, and James, Harry and R. L. Smith Jr., all of whom reside in Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

ALABAMAN ENDS LIFE AFTER KILLING WIFE

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A finding of murder and suicide was returned by the coroner today in the death of Clair Penney and his wife, who were found shot to death in bed at their home here last night. Both were about 35 years old.

Penney was said by police to have threatened to commit suicide numerous times and several months ago wounded a friend who prevented him from taking his own life.

TURKEY CAUSES CRASH

Ernest Robinson, of Penn Yan, N. Y., driving his automobile home from a turkey raffle in which he had won three plump turkeys, was congratulating himself over his good fortune. Suddenly one of the birds broke loose, flapped its wings in Robinson's eyes, causing him to lose control of the automobile which crashed into another, parked on the side of the road. Considerable damage was done to both automobiles, Robinson reported.

A knee-bracing, rubber-stepped steel ladder was among the new household devices shown at the autumn sample fair in Leipzig, Germany.

Colorado Mountain Loses Part of Bulk

DURANGO, Col., Dec. 26.—(AP)—To the accompaniment of strange subterranean rumblings, action continued today in a huge mountain of the La Plata range, three miles south of here, which has faulted for the last 10 days.

While residents and geologists of the region watched the phenomenon, thousands of tons of rock and dirt rolled and crashed from a steep cliff on the side of the mountain to the level floor of the Animas valley.

The action appears entirely local in character.

Residents of the region were not alarmed. There are no dwellings or buildings of any sort in the vicinity of the slide.

'ELECTRIC DOLLAR' FAVORED AS CURE FOR NATION'S ILLS

promise to deliver future kilowatt hour to the present currency is secured by the promise of the United States treasury to redeem it in gold. A suggested value for the electric dollar would be four or five per cent of the present dollar.

Gold currency would continue to exist and would fluctuate in value with reference to the electric dollar just as foreign currency now fluctuates with reference to United States gold currency.

The electric dollar would bear interest, perhaps three per cent. This would allow the electric companies one or two per cent profit as they would realize four or five per cent on the currency.

Caught Between Autos, Three Atlantans Hurt

Leaving a Christmas party at the West End Women's Club, three persons were painfully injured early Monday morning when they were crushed between a moving and stationary automobile. They were Mrs. V. R. Rowe, 378 Boulevard; W. F. Hannah, 37 Lee street, College Park, and E. J. Yandall, of 1717 Ashby street, all treated at Grady hospital for cuts and bruises.

Robert Hadden, 26, of 341 Richardson street, said by police to have been the driver of the car which struck them, was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Two persons suffering with fractured skulls received in accidents Christmas Day, were still in serious condition at Grady hospital Monday night. W. G. Dixon, 8, of 543 Boulevard, was not expected to live, and George Bates was given only an even chance for recovery.

Mary Hadden, of Piedmont avenue, and Naomi Kelley, of Hapeville, both negroes, were treated for injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding Monday with Gordon Taylor, crashed into a telephone pole.

Two negro women, Mable Williams, of a Harris street address, and Naomi Taylor, of Hapeville, were seriously injured Monday morning when the car in which they were riding with Gordon Taylor, crashed into a telephone pole.

Miss Weatherford, riding with her sister, Miss Helen Weatherford, stopped to investigate the tires and was struck as she stood outside the car. She was taken to Grady hospital, and gave police the license number of the machine which struck her. A short while later Barden was arrested.

QUEZON WITHHOLDS OPINION ON BILL

MANILA, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Mannuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, in a statement today discounts the plan of the Philippine independence mission at Washington that Filipinos unite and ask President Hoover to sign the pending compromise bill giving the islands their independence after a 10-year period.

Quezon, however, called near-by legislators to meet Thursday as an independence commission to consider the proposal.

"Why should we be asked, before knowing the details and provisions of the bill and before knowing the stand of the mission at Washington, knowing as we do the measure positively does not correspond to the ideas of the Filipino people, to urge the president to sign it?" Quezon asked.

"To do so would place ourselves on record as having endorsed the bill when we have not foreseen whether or not our people will accept it."

Alpha Fowler, Popular State Solon, Weds Miss Selman at Douglasville

Alpha Fowler, state senator from the thirty-sixth district and prominent Douglasville businessman, and Miss Dorothy Selman, member of a well-known Douglasville family, were married at a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Selman.

The couple were married by the Rev. E. B. Autrey, pastor of the First Baptist church, using the ring ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. B. H. Floyd, of 1031 Virginia avenue, Atlanta, and Miss Mildred Selman, of Douglasville. Relatives and close friends of the pair attended.

Mrs. Jessie Jane Selman and Jack Cota rendered "At Dawning" and "To a Wild Rose" preceding the ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Selman, of 1031 Virginia avenue, Atlanta, and Miss Mildred Selman, of Douglasville. Relatives and close friends of the pair attended.

Included among the 100 guests were Mrs. J. R. Fowler, mother of the groom; his sister, Mrs. C. M. Zattau, of 1136 Springdale road, Atlanta; Judge and Mrs. J. R. Hutcheson, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. O'Neil, Dr. and Mrs. E. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Selman, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Oldknow, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gower, Mrs. J. L. Selman, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mallory, Mrs. W. M. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs.

R. H. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Edwards and Miss Mildred F. Selman. Mr. Fowler, prominent in state politics, operates a chain of theaters in Douglasville, Carrollton, and Atlanta. The couple spent Monday night at the Piedmont hotel in Atlanta and will reside in Douglasville following a 10-day tour of Florida.

NEW ORLEANS BLAST DOES $25,000 DAMAGE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.—(AP)—An explosion audible for more than a mile, followed by fire, today destroyed an ice cream manufacturing plant on North Broad street. As far as could be learned, no one was in the building at the time and no injuries were reported in the neighborhood, although the force of the blast broke windows for several blocks around and adjacent buildings were damaged. The total damage was estimated at $25,000.

TAX ORDER ASKED FOR ATLANTIC ICE

Beaman Moves To Collect Alleged Unpaid Revenue for State.

Execution of a fi. fa. against the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company for $23,080.05 alleged to be due the state for 1930 and 1931 in unreturned taxes was ordered Monday by Henry A. Beaman, special agent and tax collector of the state, in a letter to W. S. Richardson, county tax collector.

At the same time, Beaman alleged the company owes the county $50,740.71 in back taxes and the city $70,958.15.

Arthur B. Pope, general manager of the company, said Monday night that although he had not gone into the tax controversy with Beaman, he understood from company employees that the special agent was seeking to collect on holdings of the company outside of Georgia and on which taxes are paid in other states.

Partial Returns Claimed.

Beaman attached an invoice to his letter to Richardson. It was made by accountants employed by him in carrying out a contract he entered into with the state, through Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. on October 4, whereby he is to receive 10 per cent

Birmingham Church Visited by Cracksmen

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Christmas service offerings amounting to approximately $500 were taken from a safe in St. Mary's Episcopal church here last night or early today by rogues.

The small safe was moved from the church office to the basement, where it was opened. A sheaf of currency totaling $200 was over-looked.

The burglary was discovered this afternoon by a church secretary.

on all delinquent and defaulting taxes he may collect.

Beaman charges that of the $23,080.05 due the state, $4,750.15 is due for 1930 and the balance, $18,329.90, is due for 1931. He charges that the invoices of his accountants show that the company made only a partial return in 1931 on its cash, notes receivable, merchandise, trucks and wagons, furniture and fixtures and machinery and equipment and no return at all on its investments.

Initial Fi. Fa.

Beaman further charges that in 1931 the company made only a partial return on its assets, in all it having $3,765,381.51 worth of property on which no return was made nor a tax paid.

This is the first fi. fa. Beaman has ordered under the terms of his contract with the state. If litigation results he must pay the expenses of such from his proceeds of the taxes collected.

Mr. Pope said he could not speak for the company but he felt that the state could not collect taxes on properties which the company owns in other states.

Beaman pointed out Monday night that the holdings upon which he seeks to collect are credited to the home office of the company which is in Atlanta.

"My invoices show no attempt made to collect taxes on real estate and other properties which the company has in other states," he said. "I am trying to collect only on those things which are held by the home office of the company."

WESLEY PRESENTS BIG RADIO RODEO AT CHURCH TONIGHT

One of the largest groups of radio stars ever presented at one time in Atlanta will appear tonight at 8 o'clock at the radio rodeo at Wesley Memorial auditorium. The benefit radio presentation is being given to help raise funds with which to carry on the relief work of Wesley Memorial church.

Among the radio stars to make personal appearances at the broadcast presentation are Miss Anne Burrell, "Lady Blue Bird," Sam Allen, "the boy with the golden voice," the two Johns, Scotch comedians; Master Carl Meadows, young master of ceremonies, who will act in that capacity for the Jack Rand's revue portion of the show. Madame Senia Solomoff will present a variety program and part of the radio rodeo. Radio station WGST will present as its part of the program a popular radio star, M. M. (Mike) Benton, vice president of the radio division of Chamber of Commerce, will act as Chief master of ceremonies and announcer for the radio rodeo.

50TH ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED BY DIXIE COUPLE

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Davis this afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, will observe their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 803 Juniper street, N. E.

The celebration will be a quiet one which will be attended by the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, and a few old friends.

Mr. Davis is a retired Methodist minister whose church affiliation is now with St. Mark.

Fifty years ago today as a young minister, Mr. Davis married Miss Sarah R. Clark at her home in Stewart county. They have three children and four grandchildren.

INCOME REVENUES DECREASE IN 1930

Individuals Pay $476,714,808; Corporation Levies Bring in $711,703,000.

GEORGIA INCOMES TOTAL $128,081,049

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Income tax returns for 1930 from Georgia totaled 28,996 and the net income represented by these taxpayers was $128,081,049, according to figures made public today by the bureau of internal revenue.

These figures placed Georgia in twenty-fourth place in the number of returns and in income represented.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Aggregate net income of the individual income taxpayers of the nation in 1930 was announced today by the internal revenue bureau as $18,118,654,941.

The bureau said corporation net income amounted to $28,268,312,710. Corporations paid $711,703,000 in taxes, while individuals paid $476,714,808.

The individual net income for 1930 compared with $18,231,352,042 for 1931 and the corporation net income with $3,110,642,568 for 1931. Of the $18,118,654,941 in individual income reported in the year, taxes were $1,832,895 interest on government obligations not wholly exempt from tax; $4,197,303,925 dividends on stock of domestic corporations; $429,459,304 filiality; and $1,040,437,638 interest and other income.

From the business group, agriculture and related industries reported net profits of $31,378,616; mining and quarrying $9,623,356; manufacturing, $75,397,816; construction, $65,469,451; transportation and public utilities, $13,965,051; trade, $3,055,051; service including professional, amusements, hotels, etc., $807,817,433; finance, $80,046,814; and other business the nature of which was not divulged $55,229,990.

Tax exempt obligations of $5,000,529,284 were reported held by the taxpayers.

Corporations which reported net income of $6,428,812,710 also reported losses for the prior year of $157,880,249 while 241,616 corporations reporting gross income of $46,500,064, 905 had no net income and had deductions amounting to $51,378,158,919.

Million-Dollar Incomes.

Taxpayers who had incomes of $1,000,000 or more dropped to 150 in 1930 as compared with 513 the previous year. The bureau last week reported that near final figures for 1931 showed but 75 persons with incomes in the million or more class contributing to the federal coffers.

Eight persons in 1930, the final statistics revealed, had incomes of $5,000,000 or more, four had incomes of $4,000,000 and under $5,000,000, under $4,000,000, 21 had incomes of $2,000,000 and under $3,000,000, 24 had incomes of $1,500,000 and under $2,000,000 and 86 had incomes of $1,000,000 and under $1,500,000.

New Jersey had one taxpayer with an income of $5,000,000 or more, New York had five taxpayers in this class. Pennsylvania one and Ohio one.

States which had persons with million-dollar incomes in 1930 were: California 3, Connecticut 1, Illinois 20, Delaware 3, Indiana 1, Iowa 1, Kentucky 1, Louisiana 2, Massachusetts 3, Michigan 6, Missouri 1, New Jersey 12, New York 66, North Carolina 1, Ohio 1, Pennsylvania 20, Rhode Island 2, Texas 2, Washington 1, and Wisconsin 1.

A total of 107,117 single women, heads of families reported net income of $435,461,741 and 439,205 single women not heads of families reported net income of $1,704,168,023. Single men not heads of families numbered 624,706, with net income of $2,755,809,423. Heads of families who made joint returns and husbands whose wives made separate returns numbered 1,864,229 having net income of $10,882,725,878 and single men, heads of families numbered 263,180 with net income of $968,809,537, wives filing separate returns numbered 104,925 and had net income of $915,034,003.

Negroes Given Baskets.

Baskets of food for 1,500 needy negro citizens were distributed Christmas by Jesse H. Hanley, of the Hanley Undertaking Company, mortician. The donation was in line with Hanley's reputation for taking care of charity cases among the negroes of Atlanta. The distribution of Christmas baskets is an annual event.

Glass Car Will Show Automotive Intricacies

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Glass will be put to a new use at the 1933 World's Fair.

On exhibition, fair officials said today, will be an automobile—actual size—made in glass with the exception of minor vital parts. The reason is to give the layman opportunity to see exactly what goes on inside an automobile. Incidentally, the color of the automobile will change as the watcher views it. An electrical arrangement cares for the effect.

'INSURANCE' ASKED FOR TIME DEPOSIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Legislation to regulate and insure "time deposits" in banks was advanced today by Senator Vandenberg, Michigan republican, as a means of preventing hoarding, creating confidence and relaxing credit.

Saying he is "irrevocably opposed" to a general federal guaranty of bank deposits, Vandenberg proposed to create a gigantic fund for the protection of time deposits and to distinguish these from demand deposits.

The Michigan senator would define time deposits as those turned over to a bank for at least 90 days and insure them up to 75 per cent through a federal "time deposit insurance fund."

Vandenberg said a federal guaranty of bank deposits would "reduce all banking to a dead level where reckless bankers could bid for confidence on a parity with sound bankers," and asserted the mass of individual deposits is in savings and certificates.

The Vandenberg proposal, the fund would be created by an appropriation of $125,000,000 from the treasury; the addition of one-fourth of the annual surplus of the federal reserve system and an annual tax of 1-8 of 1 per cent on all time deposits in member banks.

Basing his estimates on the report of the comptroller of the currency, Vandenberg said the total loss from time deposits in federal reserve member banks from 1914 to 1932 was $150,000,000, or less than $9,000,000 a year.

RELATIVES TO GET CHILD OF WOMAN DOOMED TO CHAIR

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Although she has received many offers to adopt her seven-year-old son, Mrs. Beatrice Snipes, condemned to execution, has refused them and will turn the child over to relatives.

Papers are being drawn through which Mrs. Snipes will surrender the boy, Clyde Snipes Jr., to an uncle, Meigs Snipes, of Columbia. The woman is expecting a second child in the penitentiary here.

She, Clyde Jr. and her husband were reunited yesterday for the first time since she was sentenced to death last month for the murder of a rural policeman.

Snipes is serving a seven-month sentence in her present confinement. The parents and Clyde Jr. were allowed to visit each other in the visitors' room of the penitentiary.

SPAIN'S RISE SEEN IN WORLD'S AFFAIRS

MADRID, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Luis Zulueta on his return Sunday from Geneva and Paris said Spain is beginning to assume her proper place in international affairs.

"It is significant of Spain's new prestige that her representatives have been selected to form a part of the commission from three nations studying the Gran Chaco hostilities and a part of the commission from eight nations studying the Sino-Japanese situation," he said.

"We must continue to have confidence in our own government. I feel sure that the nations eventually will settle their differences peacefully."

U. S. ROMAN EMBASSY HOUSED IN ROYAL VILLA

ROME, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The United States embassy was moved today to beautiful new quarters in a villa once the property of King Victor Emmanuel and occupied at various times by members of the royal family.

The property consists of two buildings 62 years old and 11,000 square meters of park on the corner of Via Veneto and Via Boncompagni in the center of the fashionable hotel district.

It was purchased by Ambassador Garrett in 1930 for $1,000,000 from the fascist party, to which it previously had been sold by the king.

INQUEST SET FOR TODAY IN DEATH OF SCHULTZ

A coroner's inquest into the death of Deane Schultz, about 18, of 30 Woodlawn avenue, whose body was found Sunday afternoon on the railroad tracks near Bolton station, probably will be held today at the establishment of Brandon, Bond & Condon, Young Schultz was the son of Mrs. Gertrude Hawkins, of Birmingham, Ala.

The youth's body was discovered about 300 yards from the Bolton station on the N. C. & St. L. railroad tracks Sunday afternoon, but no train had passed over the tracks for several hours. Relatives said they could scarce believe his body lay in the vicinity. The body was badly mangled, it was said.

Surviving also are his grandmother, Mrs. A. Schultz, of Atlanta, and five brothers and sisters.

Funeral services are to be held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Fortified Hills Baptist church, with the Rev. W. T. Hines officiating. Interment will be in Hollywood cemetery. Brandon, Bond & Condon are in charge.

BURIAL IN CAROLINA FOR L. Z. GORDON

Pioneer Atlantan To Rest in Family Lot at Monroe.

L. Z. Gordon, 57, well known in insurance and fraternal circles, who died at a private hospital Saturday night, will be buried in Monroe, N. C., today. Harry G. Poole is in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Gordon, a pioneer resident of Atlanta, was Atlanta manager of the Washington National Life Insurance Company and associated with the N. R. Glenn Insurance Agency. He had lived here for 43 years, and had been active in civic and social affairs, notably in the work of the Community Chest in which he had served as chairman.

His entire life had been devoted to Masonry. He had held all offices in the Masonic lodge, and was a past worshipful master of the Fulton lodge, F. & A. M., in which he was a charter member with a life membership. He was chairman of the building committee of the Masonic temple. He was a member of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Leonard Gordon, who is with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company; three brothers, Baxter and Earl, of Monroe, N. C., and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Winchester, of Charlotte, N. C., and two grandchildren, Leonard Gordon Jr. and Bobby Gordon.

Radiologist at Yale Ends Life With Gas

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Dr. William Arthur L. Field, an outstanding authority on X-ray, president of the Connecticut Medical Society, and clinical professor of radiology and consultant in X-ray at the Yale University School of Medicine, committed suicide in the kitchen of his apartment late today.

He turned on the gas and sat in a chair. His body was found by a negro housekeeper.

"You will find no scandal, financial difficulties, physical or mental infirmities to account for my going, so do not waste any time looking for them."

MRS. MARTHA MATHIS PASSES AT AGE OF 88

Mrs. Martha A. Mathis, 88 years of age, pioneer Atlantan, died Monday afternoon at her residence on West Wesley road, after an illness of several months. Mrs. Mathis lived for the last 60 years in the same house.

Funeral services are to be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Center church, on Moore's Mill road, with the Rev. W. F. Burdette officiating. Burial will be in the Harmony Grove cemetery.

Surviving are a brother, Charles Hatcher, a sister, Mrs. Julia Mathis, both of Atlanta; and a granddaughter, Mrs. B. B. DePass, of Chicago. Atty and Lowndes are in charge.

MRS. BEN E. RAGSDALE LAID TO FINAL REST

Funeral services for Mrs. Ben E. Ragdale, wife of the general manager of the Southern division of the Commercial Credit Company, who died Sunday morning at her residence at 1035 Oxford road, were conducted Monday afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, with the Rev. B. D. Ragdale, of Macon, officiating. Interment was in West View cemetery.

Palbearers were Arch Martin, Hugh Trotter, Frank Armistead, Richard Hickey Jr., Carlisle Holleman, Aubrey Millam and H. A. Cherry. Mrs. Ragdale was the daughter of the late W. B. Cummings, chief of the Atlanta department for many years, and Mrs. Cummings, who survives her.

LOVE FREES BEAUTY IN PLOT AGAINST DUCE

ROME, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Greta Blaha, blond Viennese beauty, who was sentenced to prison for 30 years for complicity in a plot against Benito Mussolini last spring, was among those released under the government's amnesty decree, it was announced today.

Miss Blaha's lover, Domenico Bonove, was condemned to death as a result of the plot.

The special tribunal which decreed her release is understood to have been impressed by the answer she made when asked why she aided Bonove. "I did it because I loved him," she said. She has been deported to Vienna.

MAN HURT IN CRASH; NEGRO DRIVER SOUGHT

W. G. McCoy, of 329 Atlanta avenue, was slightly injured Monday afternoon when his auto, parked at Fort and Old Wheat streets, was struck by another car driven by an unidentified negro. McCoy's back was injured, it was said at Grady hospital, where he was taken. The negro stopped after the accident, but left without giving his name. Police are searching for him.

SIMMONS SEEKS PEACE IN BATTLE WITH BOARD

Clerk of Superior Court Asks Commission To Grant Him Conference Today.

An attempt to mend the rift between J. W. Simmons, clerk of superior court, and the county commissioners over the refusal of Simmons to suspend two of his deputy clerks at request of the board, is expected today, it was learned Monday.

Simmons is seeking a conference with the board of commissioners and has asked Commissioner Walter C. Hendrix to petition the other members to grant the conference. Commissioner Hendrix said Monday that he would confer with the other four members of the board this morning and that if they approve a conference will be held today.

After reviewing an audit of the cash funds in the clerk's office, the county board recommended that the cashing and holding of employees' checks be stopped, and recommended that two deputy clerks be suspended. Simmons, in a statement through the press, explained that the two clerks refused to suspend them.

Wheat, Under Hand of Scientists, To Speed Up Storing of Energy

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 26. (AP)—A method of more than doubling the rate at which growing wheat stores up energy in food will be exhibited here tomorrow to scientists gathering from all parts of the United States for the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The scientists will also see a moving shadow which tests a man's creative ability. X-rays in three dimensions will give them a new picture of the interior of the human body. Cosmic rays will show some of their mystery by flashing into visible light on a machine.

They are all part of the scientific exhibitions for the meeting arranged under directorship of Dr. F. W. Brown, of Washington.

The "energy" exhibit is shown by the Smithsonian Institute. This energy is stored up in the wheat from sunlight in the process of converting carbon dioxide into starch and sugars.

The experiment is the most extensive yet conducted on a higher plant.

Children's Coughs Need Creomulsion

Always get the best, fastest and surest treatment for your child's cough or cold. Prudent mothers more and more are turning to Creomulsion for any cough or cold that starts.

Creomulsion emulsifies creosotes with six other important medicinal elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and check germ growth. It is not a cheap remedy, but contains no narcotics and is certain relief. Get a bottle from your druggist right now and have it ready for instant use. (adv.)

It shows the relation of the energy storage process to the strength of light. This is done by growing wheat plants in artificial atmospheres containing different amounts of carbon dioxide than found in the open air.

There are some possibilities of practical application in greenhouses and in enclosed fields. The Smithsonian investigators, however, are concerned more about learning the characteristics of the process than its immediate application.

They are in effect attempting to establish more clearly the laws of plant energy storage. Men obtain energy in assimilating food by reversing the plant process, burning it with oxygen back into carbon dioxide.

In the exhibit, the wheat plant grows in a cork float, its roots extending below into a solution of water and salts. Its stalk grows upward inside a glass tube so fitted that the amount of light falling on the leaves and the volume of carbon dioxide in the artificial atmosphere can be regulated at will and measured accurately.

If the carbon dioxide is increased, the wheat stores energy more rapidly. But it finally reaches a point where the storage stops increasing unless the intensity of light is also raised.

In daylight, in open fields, there is less carbon dioxide than wheat is capable of using. Many other plants are handicapped like wheat.

The moving shadow is made in an apparatus which its exhibitor, Dr. W. R. Miles, professor of psychology and the institute of human relations at Yale, calls a kinephantoscope. The object making the shadow is a simple gadget familiar to everyone, but kept secret. The person looking into the instrument tells what he thinks the shadow looks like—a hot flapping—or a couple of hinges opening and closing. There are all sorts of answers, Dr. Miles says.

SOVIET WILL REDUCE INDUSTRIAL OUTLAY

Three Billion Rubles Less Than in 1932 To Be Spent in Construction.

MOSCOW, Dec. 26. (AP)—Considerable easing of the present pace of industrial construction in the Soviet Union beginning with the advent of the second five-year plan was seen today in an announcement that the state's capital investment in all socialist economy in 1933 will be more than 3,000,000,000 rubles less than in 1932. (The nominal value of the ruble is 51.5 cents.)

The announcement was made by D. G. Sulimov, president of the council of people's commissars of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic, reporting that that body in the 1933 plan placed total capital investment for the whole union at 18,000,000,000 rubles, compared with 21,000,000,000 in the present year and 16,100,000,000 in 1931.

The Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic is the largest of the Soviet's seven republics, constituting 92.7 per cent of the entire union and approximately 70 per cent of the population. In it are located most of the country's basic industries.

Sulimov's report is significant and seems to bear out the trend already toward a general slowing up of feverish industrial efforts in that, while it is declared that coal, metal, machinery, machine building, transport and the socialization of agriculture will continue to be emphasized in 1933, it does not mention any new large scale first five-year plan construction.

Instead, major attention is expected to be devoted to the development of the present heavy industrial plants in an effort to increase productivity and reduce costs, at the same time accentuating correspondingly the development of light industry, or the production of consumers' goods.

In other words, the theory here now is that the first five-year plan has created an industrial base and the time has come to perfect this structure rather than to continue frenzied efforts to build up new industrial plants.

Some heavy industrial aims for 1933 are increases compared with 1932—45 per cent for pig iron production, 40 per cent for rolled steel, 20 per cent for coal, 34 per cent for tractors, and 60 per cent for automobiles.

To inaugurate better living standards the capital investment in light industry will be doubled in 1933 compared with this year, Sulimov declared, adding that much effort would be centered on the development of local industries heretofore neglected and subordinated to the larger task of creating the means of production, or heavy industry.

The central executive committee of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic meets January 12 to adopt a specific plan for 1933. The all-union central executive committee, or the red parliament, originally summoned to annual session January 10 to adopt a general plan for the country as a whole, now has been postponed until January 20.

VERA CRUZ MAY LIFT DRASTIC CHURCH BAN

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—A law limiting Catholic churches to one priest for each 100,000 inhabitants in the State of Vera Cruz may be modified soon by its new governor, Gonzalo Vazquez Vela.

He already has launched repeal measures on some of the more radical laws invoked by his predecessor, Adolfo Tejeda. Dispatches from Vera Cruz and Jalisco, capital of the state, indicated today that many of them would be repealed and that the governor intends to modify the religious law.

Alabama Rivers Resume Rise, Reviving Menace of Floods

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 26. (AP)—Rivers were on a rise throughout the state today and approaching flood stage at several points.

E. H. Smyth, government meteorologist, said he would not make a forecast until his office had been furnished with detailed reports from substations over Alabama, but he did predict that the Coosa river at Rome, Ga., would again overflow its banks within the next few days.

The Coosa at Rome today stood at 25 feet, a rise of 8.9 feet since yesterday and only 2.1 feet from flood stage.

"It is impossible to tell definitely whether the Coosa will again flood," Smyth said. "The water level at the stations is closed for the holiday and the reports are not complete. The river will continue to rise, however, and was rising slowly at an unduly high level over its banks."

At Gadsden, Ala., the lowlands near the river banks were inundated as the Coosa registered 25 feet, five feet above flood stage. The water was falling this morning but was expected to start rising again. No danger threatens the city of Gadsden.

At Wetumpka, where waters have lapped almost at backdoors for more than a week, the Coosa stood at 43.1 feet above flood stage. The water was rising toward the flood stage of 45 feet.

The Alabama river at Montgomery was six feet short of its flood stage of 45 feet and was rising further.

IRAQ PLACES BAN ON UNESCORTED FOREIGN WOMEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—"Unaccompanied American and European ladies" are not permitted to travel alone in Iraq, the government of the Mesopotamian kingdom has announced.

They are not regarded by the government as "accompanying" except "when accompanied by a male relative or a member of a similar national and social status of the male sex is traveling with them."

Bagdad, Basra and Mosul are the only cities in which American women and their European sisters may reside "without special permission," according to an administrative order issued by the state department today by Paul Knabenshue, American minister resident at Iraq.

Foreign ladies are warned in the order from the minister of the interior that the visa will be canceled if they fail to comply with travel restrictions.

Lone women may go unaccompanied on railways and established commercial motorcar routes between Bagdad and Syria, and police escorts will be provided by "mutasarrifs," or local magistrates, in districts where they are required. However, the travelers must pay the escorts.

Also all travel must be between sunrise and sunset and only with the permission of local authorities are foreign ladies permitted to camp out over night.

King Feisal doesn't want any foreign women in Iraq, he says, in his desert kingdom and has ordered that even "accompanying ladies" may not go to the holy cities of Kerbala or Najaf and many other places with strategic names where special permission in advance from the ministry of interior.

Two cars and a special police escort are required for any party that will make trips to Tal Kaif, Tal Uskof, Al Quosh, Zakho, Ain Sinfi, Shaikh Adi, Tal Afar, Sinjar, Hatra, Agra, Amadia, and Saz Amadia.

Lake Persia, where three American consular officers were kidnapped six months ago and held for ransom, Iraq is a land of roving robber bands made up chiefly of tribesmen who delight in preying on foreigners and thus bringing the central government into disrepute.

TEXAS BROKER HELD IN DEATH OF WIFE

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—F. Agnew, 51-year-old Houston broker charged with murder in the death of his wife, will be given an examining trial here January 6.

Agnew was released on $3,000 bond Saturday. Mrs. Agnew, said by police to have kept jewelry and securities in safety deposit boxes at Pasadena and Los Angeles, Cal., died Friday.

RECLUSE FOUND DEAD IN MARYLAND CABIN

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 26. (AP)—Missing from his daily woodchopping rounds for several days, George B. Canapp, 80-year-old recluse, was found dead today in his bare shanty on a knoll overlooking the Baltimore dam and reservoir at Loch Raven, north of here.

The body was found by a group of acquaintances as they visited the place with a delayed contribution of Christmas food. Coroner William P. Butler said the man had been dead for several days and had apparently frozen.

BOLIVIAN SOLDIERS REPORTED REPULSED

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Dec. 26. (AP)—The ministry of war issued a bulletin saying Bolivian forces had attacked Fort Corrales in the Gran Chaco and had been compelled to retire in disorderly fashion after a four and a half-hour battle Saturday morning.

A pledge of a 24-hour Christmas armistice on the Gran Chaco battlefield was given by the governments of Bolivia and Paraguay to Pope Pius XI today. Both agreed that hostilities cease from 10 p. m. Saturday to 10 p. m. Sunday.

ONE SLAIN, ONE SHOT BY MASKED GUNMAN

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Dec. 26. (AP)—One brother was killed, another probably fatally wounded and a third escaped when a masked gunman waylaid them at their homestead early today and opened fire on them.

Everett Fling, 25, was killed; his brother, Charles, 22, was wounded in the abdomen and probably will die; while the third brother, Louis Fling, 17, escaped injury.

Charles told officers his eldest brother had had trouble with a woman recently but the nature of the quarrel was not learned.

Prisoners Get Turkey As Guards Eat Chops

OSNING, N. Y., Dec. 26. (AP)—It was turkey for the prisoners and pork chops for the guards at Sing Sing prison today.

The approximately 2,400 prisoners, including 24 persons condemned to death, dined on 214 turkeys with all the trimmings, the state paying the bill. The keepers, however, are obliged to pay for their own meals. Officials pointed out that the state in buying in wholesale quantities paid less per meal for the prisoners than each keeper had to pay for his chops.

The lone woman in the death house, Mrs. Mary Field Simpson, joined in the turkey feast. She was convicted of drowning her son near Corland, N. Y.

Californians Favor Economic Council

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—So that every one who wants a job may have one, the establishment of a state economic council was recommended to Governor James Rolph Jr. and the 1933 legislature today by the state unemployment commission.

The economic council would be charged with these four functions:

1-To improve methods of production and consumption in industry, agriculture and business.

2-To develop economic and social forces so as to provide a proper standard of living for all.

3-To make a scientific study of conditions, the result of the investigations to be published for the people's guidance.

4-To make recommendations to the legislature for improving bad conditions.

"The depression has brought home to everyone the necessity of combined and persistent effort to remove the evil of unemployment," says the unemployment commission's report.

ACTRESS REPORTED WED TO TEDDY HAYES

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—The American actress Mrs. Dorothy Hayes today said she has been granted a Mexican divorce from Teddy Hayes, former trainer of Jack Dempsey and more recently manager of Lina Lasquette, of the screen.

The newspaper heard also that Hayes and Miss Lasquette were married the day after notification of the divorce was received, which was December 21. Friends of Hayes and the actress said they had received Christmas cards from them signed by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes.

THREE ARE INDICTED IN SLAYING OF GIRL, 3

LINDEN, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—Three men were bound over for grand jury action today in the "devil murder" of Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old infantile paralysis victim, at a backwoods home.

Paul Oakley, 20, self-described "divine healer" who, officers said, confessed the child died with his hands at her throat, startled courtroom spectators with the assertion he was immortal.

"That is all I've got to say," he said. "I was not born—I was conceived by God. That's what I've been telling you all along."

Oakley, his 25-year-old brother and "disciple," Coy Oakley, and Bernice's father, Sherman Clayton, 30, all were held for grand jury investigation.

The child died a week ago at the two-room Clayton home, deep in the pine forests west of Linden, during rites the Oakleys said were intended to cure her.

"God had told me to cure her," Paul Oakley said in a signed statement to Sheriff Nat Curtright, "but the devil got into me when I saw him in Clayton's eyes. I had my knee on the child's chest and my hands on her throat."

The hearing was delayed more than an hour by Paul Oakley, who tore his clothing to shreds and stood nude in his jail cell when officers came to take him to court.

With hair falling to their shoulders and their faces streaked with paint to give them the appearance of Indian medicine men, the preachers were arraigned with the father before Justice E. W. Crow.

Physicians testified the child was strangled to death.

Witnesses said the father was in the room at the time.

Mrs. Mozzelle Clayton, 22, the mother, said she remained in the kitchen praying that her daughter might be cured.

YOUNG STENOGRAPHER ASPHYXIATED BY GAS

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26. (AP)—Miss Helen Holbrook, 21-year-old stenographer, formerly of Philadelphia, died today, shortly after two friends had found her lying in the basement of her boarding house several feet away from a hot-water heater from which they said gas was escaping.

Coroner Guy M. Cronwell said he will make an investigation in an effort to determine whether the death was accidental or a suicide.

HONDURAN MAY MEET BROTHER IN BATTLE

TEGUGALPA, Honduras, Dec. 26. (AP)—An encounter between nationalists under General Camillo Reina and rebel troops under his brother, General Jose Maria Reina, was considered imminent in reports reaching here tonight concerning insurgent activities in western Honduras.

LOUISIANAN ENDS LIFE AT CHRISTMAS PARTY

OPELOUSAS, La., Dec. 26. (AP)—Authorities here reported that Joseph Ardis Sonnier, 38, died last night of a bullet wound, self-inflicted, in the presence of relatives gathered for Christmas.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Western Lumbermen Plan Small Dwellings

SEATTLE, Dec. 26. (AP)—Colonel W. B. Greeley, head of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, announced today the lumber industry of the Pacific northwest foresaw a shortage of small, modern homes and had planned a series of residences which can be built for $850 to $2,000.

These houses are based on a new principle—interlocking joints and mortises cut into the lumber; nails being used only for additional security—and the association is making plans available to individual architects.

SPLendor MARKS OPERAS' OPENING IN ITALIAN CITIES

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 26. (AP)—Italy's opera season opened tonight in Milan and Rome with a blaze of light and flashing new gowns.

However the kingdom may be pined in its pocketbook, its traditional love of opera and its deeply established custom of flocking to first nights filled the lyrical theaters.

The season this year is as long as ever, finishing at the end of April.

The Scala, here, opened with Richard Wagner's "Twilight of the Gods," in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary this year of Wagner's death. Victor De Sabata directed the orchestra, with Lotte Bueck, Maria Capuana, and Isidoro Fogoga in the principal roles.

The Royal Opera House, Rome, inaugurated the New Year with Verdi's "Macbeth," which has not been played in Rome for more than 20 years. The opera was directed by Gino Marinuzzi, and Benvenuto Franci and Bianca Scacciati had the principal roles.

In Genoa, the Carlo Felice Opera House opens January 7 with the "Lorelei" of the Sicilian composer, Catalani.

The government has appropriated 1,300,000 lire—$65,000—to help provincial opera houses. The money has been raised through the Fascist Theater Corporation, which is part of fascist corporate state system. The fund is for 40-odd theaters.

WOMAN AMNESIA VICTIM

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 26. (AP)—A woman amnesia victim, found on a street here Thursday, was identified today by Rev. Frank C. Mitchell, of Kansas City, Mo., evangelist, as Miss Gertrude Rose, a waitress, of Aldrich, Ala., formerly of Mobile, Ala.

LATE CZAR'S SERVANT HELD IN FORGERIES

MOSCOW, Dec. 26. (AP)—Nicolai Fedorovich Trubetskoy, 45, former coachman for the late Czar Nicholas, was today in jail here for forging checks.

He was arrested by Moscow detectives, after defalcations in a Moscow sewing trust where he was purchasing agent, were traced to him.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

It's the worst kind of folly to dope and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause.

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment, today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you can use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

Fighting the FLU

Common Sense Suggestions to Readers of The Constitution

Influenza is going its deadly rounds. Take every possible precaution to avoid coming down with the flu. These simple rules are based on sound medical opinion:

Get lots of sleep and eat wisely; it is usually the run-down man or woman who succumbs easiest to germs.

Keep the system alkaline; an acid condition invites colds and other weakening disorders.

Keep the bowels open so poisons will not accumulate and lower your resistance.

Get plenty of fresh air; breathe through the nose. Avoid any close contact with others; remember, flu is highly contagious.

Don't dose yourself with a lot of medicine. You can alkalize your system against colds with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. If you should catch cold, take some Bayer Aspirin; if your throat feels at all sore, crush the tablets in water and gargle. But if you detect any sign of flu, or even suspect it, get to bed at once and call your physician.

A SHIP WITHOUT AN Anchor

A SHIP may have infrequent occasion to use an anchor. Yet no one ever heard of a captain foolhardy enough to set out to sea without this essential piece of equipment... Isn't it a fact that a savings account is an anchor that nothing else can possibly take the place of, should any financial emergency arise? Why don't you open an account at this bank—now?

2 ATLANTANS ROBBED, BEATEN BY BANDITS

Yeggs, Thugs Active Early
Monday; Drug Store Safe
"Cracked."

Two victims of thugs and robbers were recovering from injuries received in beatings Monday while police sought their assailants and the yeggs men entered the lane drug store, 1687 Peachtree road, early Monday morning and after breaking into the safe through the bottom panel, robbed it of $625, according to police reports.

The yeggs men, evidently experts, entered the building by way of a hole cut through the roof and ceiling. Checks amounting to $125 were on the floor as well as a violin of a high explosive.

Attacked on Wheeler street by three unidentified men late Christmas night, Charlie Vickers, 32 of 759 Ashby street, who was badly cut and bruised, was reported improving Monday. No robberies were attempted, Vickers reported to police.

Roy McMillan, program director of WSB, who was beaten by robbers who took his automobile and $1 in cash Saturday night, was reported as resting at his residence, 47 Peachtree place. His collarbone was fractured and his head was badly bruised.

White bandits held up Gene Williams and Milton Aaron on Edgewood avenue and took $20 from their pockets.

J. A. Vance reported that someone entered his barn at 1830 Langston avenue and made off with a calf four months old.

T. M. Hatch reported to police that burglars entered his residence at 621 Grady place while the family was away and stole wearing apparel and a pistol.

Humphries Reported Improving Rapidly

Reported as rapidly improving in a Dublin (Ga.) hospital, Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, was able to take nourishment Monday, hospital attaches said, but despite his improvement, must remain in bed several days longer. Mrs. Humphries, also injured when the car in which they were riding near Dublin Saturday night skidded off an 8-foot embankment, was not confined to the hospital, but remained in Dublin to be near her husband.

At first believed to have been seriously injured, Judge Humphries regained consciousness Sunday afternoon. Though severely cut and bruised, the judge showed no broken bones nor internal injuries.

B'nai B'rith Leader To Be Visitor Today

Atlanta chapter of A. Z. A. No. 134, Junior Order of the B'nai B'rith will be host to Aleph Hymen Goodbinder, grand president of the order, today at a luncheon at Rich's restaurant at noon, a sightseeing tour of Atlanta and at a dinner tonight. A business conference will be held in the afternoon.

After the dinner, which will be held at 6 o'clock in the A. Z. A. chapter room at the Hebrew Orphan's home, an election of officers for the chapter will be held. This meeting

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratory, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed, and promoted by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, cough and croup, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, and so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, ask for a bottle of Aspirin, and tell the clerk to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in

City Picks 'Bandit Squad' From Among Jobless

PAULSBORO, N. J., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Five men, recruited from the ranks of the unemployed and armed with pistols, form Paulsboro's first "bandit squad."

Serving in exchange for food orders, the men have been enlisted by Mayor James A. Wert to curb an outbreak of robberies.

LAGUARDIA PROPOSES 5-DAY INTEREST WEEK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, today announced he would introduce in the house tomorrow a "resolution" to place capital on a five-day week basis and lower the present interest rates charged by the government's agencies.

He said these rates were "responsible for prolonging the present depression and the consequent unemployment of our economic difficulties."

The New York progressive republican charged that home owners were being "flooded" of their little homes in every city and town in the country "because government agencies—the federal reserve system, farm loan banks and the home loan bank—maintained an 'unreasonable' interest rate."

"There is nothing permanent or sacred about a 6 per cent or 8 per cent rate of interest," he said. "Farm mortgages throughout the country are being foreclosed by the thousands every day. This cannot continue."

Laguardia said he had drawn up his resolution "in simple language" in order that "even our bankers could understand it."

The resolution provided: That the interest rate on all outstanding bonded indebtedness of the United States be reduced by 20 per cent.

That the secretary of the treasury be authorized to issue new certificates in exchange for all outstanding government bonds and other interest-bearing securities which shall equal 71 per cent of the interest rates now paid on these issues.

That the legal interest rate in the District of Columbia and all territories be fixed at 3 per cent per year.

That the discount rate for commercial papers, securities and other credit facilities be fixed at 3 per cent.

That the intermediate farm loan banks shall discount farm mortgages at a rate not exceeding 7.5 per cent per year.

On the Air Today
Arthur (Street Singer) Tracy will offer a variety of melodies, including the tango selection, "Cielito Lindo," as his contribution to "Music That Satisfies" during the program to be heard tonight from 8 to 8:15 p. m. over the WGST-Columbia network.

His other offerings will include the lovely song, "That Little Boy of Mine," the throbbing and beautiful tune, "Chloe," and the stirring "Without a Song" from the musical show of a few seasons past, "Great Day."

Nat Shikret and his salon orchestra will be heard in Shikret arrangements of "Love Me Tonight" from the motion picture of the same name, and the sophisticated "Syncopated Love Song."

Howard Barlow, conducting the Columbia Symphony orchestra, will make a brief survey of masterpieces of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries during the broadcast over WGST and the Columbia network from 10 to 10:20 p. m. Selections to be heard will range from the early Mozart, Overture to "La Finta Gardineria," to Charpentier's "Impressions of Italy." Other composers to be heard will be March from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" suite, the second movement, Allegro vivace, from Mendelssohn's "Symphony No. 5," the "Reformation" symphony, and the spirited Malaguena from Moszkowski's "Bohndill."

Gluck's "Paris and Helen" overture and the selection "Les Cloches de Rome" from Charpentier's musical travelogue, "Impressions of Italy" will conclude the presentation.

Tommy McLaughlin, lyric baritone, will feature the old ballad, "Seeing Nellie Home," during his performance on the "Threads of Happiness" program, to be heard over the Columbia chain on Tuesday, December 27, from 7:15 to 8:30 p. m. He will also offer the famous Russian melody, "Volga Boat Song," and a popular song, "I'm Alone With My Dreams of You," Andre Kostelanetz, conducting the accompanying orchestra, will feature the ensemble in symphonic arrangements of "Please," "The Ambassadors," and "High and Low" from the musical success of last year, "The Band Wagon."

The original musical score of the new motion picture comedy, "Hypnotized," will be featured by Raymond Paige and his orchestra, and contrabass by Charlie Murray, Maria Alia, Wallace Ford and Marjorie Beebe, all featured stars in the forthcoming movie, which is included in the coming week of the first radio program of a motion picture overheard on the air, and will take place at least a week before the picture is shown in any theater. The presentation also will include a performance by Olga Steeb, celebrated concert pianist, playing the Scherzo movement from Saint-Saens' Second Concerto for piano and orchestra.

'31 CONTRIBUTIONS TO SOCIAL SERVICE JUMP 40 PERCENT
NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Donations by American philanthropic foundations in 1931 were one-fifth less than in 1930. The report today in the second annual study of foundation activities by the Twentieth Century Fund, but despite this curtailment donations for social service work increased more than 40 per cent.

More than $54,600,000 was disbursed by the 102 foundations reporting to the fund. The report also disclosed that the foundations have capital funds of more than $70,000,000.

"One of the most striking facts about foundation giving in 1931," said Francis Clark, director, in commenting on the report, "is the relatively insignificant amount of money given to the field of economics."

The returns show that only 18 out of the 102 foundations made any grants at all in the field of economics and those which did gave only $20,000 out of a total of $54,600,000, or less than 2 per cent of the total disbursements.

More than $17,000,000 went to the support of medicine and public health and $13,000,000 to general education. The medical grant, however, was 43 per cent less than in 1930 and the education grant 19 per cent less.

TURKEY HURLS WEIGHT INTO WAR ON NARCOTICS

'Iron' Decrees by Mustapha Kemal To Enforce New Reform.

ANGORA, Turkey, Dec. 26.—(AP)—President Mustapha Kemal was inaugurating today, with "iron" decrees, a new Turkish reform of international importance—severe state control and limitation of narcotic drugs.

The gazi himself presided at a cabinet meeting Christmas Day at which it was decided that three recently closed narcotic factories in Istanbul will not be allowed to reopen, that poppy cultivation will be severely limited to meet medicinal opinion needs, that Turkey will adhere to the international Hague and Geneva drug traffic accords and that special tribunals will be created to try narcotic smugglers and illegal manufacturers.

This act of Kemal Pasha and his record for rigid enforcement of his reforms in Turkey make him one of the outstanding leaders in the international anti-narcotics war.

Minister Dismissed.
MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A Tass (Russian) News Agency report said the Tatar newspaper Etilaat yesterday announced "the dismissal" of Tei Mur Shakh, minister of the Court of the Shah of Persia. No further details were given.

Even though the case with him is not bad, though his pockets be empty, the love motif in his courtship is not now be drowned by the harsh sounds of clinking coins. He is reduced to what David Warfield says the stage must be reduced to it if it is to prosper again as in the halcyon days; reduced to the necessity of recognizing that sweet sentiment is the language of the heart and that it takes the form of silver and gold. It can never be said of one of these peccunious creatures that his wife married him for his money.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT
BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Unbeatable Team-of-Four
The new laws for tournament play, recently released by the United States Bridge Association, include a provision that a team-of-four may paradoxically consist of five members.

My associates, Messrs. Oswald Jacoby and Walter Mallowan, pondering on this, though the idea might well be extended, in the opinion, a team of five is not enough. They believe the ideal team-of-four at Bridge should consist of at least 14 players, made up as follows:

Four bidders—Experts who will bid the hands, and who, as specialists in bidding, will not be expected to play the cards.

Two Dummy players (only two will be necessary). Assuming our side to be the Declarer, the bidding member will give his place to one of the Dummy players, who will proceed to squeeze out an extra trick.

Four defensive players—These players will specialize in brilliant defense, deceptive discards and ability to dodge squeezes and end-plays.

One pinch bidder, who occasionally will be called in when one of the regular bidders is at a loss as to the correct bid. He will also be particularly valuable in bidding Grand Slams, and will be expected to put in an hour's practice daily in the bidding of Small and Grand Slams.

One doubler, who will declare on close Doubles. Usually, one of the four defensive players will also take over the job of Doubler.

Two Dummy players. These will be good, all-around players, who particularly annoy certain members of opposing teams. These will be the real pinch-hitters, as they will be brought in the game only against special opponents whose "goat" they will get. Of course, the manager of an opposing team, when he sees a "goat-getter" on the game, can put in one of his own "goat-getters."

The above list of players should probably be sufficient for minor team matches, but when the team is engaged in a major league contest, it should consist of 25 members, including specialists in card-dropping, end-plays, squeezes, notrump hands, major and minor suit hands, falsecarding, and the like.

In this connection, my associates have started the development of the unbeatable team and expect to extend invitations to the following players:

Bidders—Mr. Harold S. Vanderbilt and Mr. Waldemar Von Zedwitz; not only expert bidders, but specialists in trying out the opponents before the next players get in. They would be assisted by such players as Mr. Edward Hynes Jr. and Mr. Samuel Fry Jr., who would go the distance themselves.

On defense—Any four players including Mr. Willard S. Karn and Mr. Michael T. Gottlieb, who would be the natural captains, probably assisted by Mr. E. A. Wetzel and Mr. Howard Schenken. Mr. Gottlieb would also be a Doubler.

Mr. Josephine Culbertson and Mrs. Louis H. Watson would be the pinch bidders, and would be called into the game either for Slams or for cases where one player has been temporarily demoralized by his partner. They would take the place of the partner.

Mr. H. Huber Rosowitsch would occupy a special position of cheer-leader and sympathizer with the players who are taken out of the game for errors. He would also be called upon to drop singleton Kings on occasion.

Mr. William J. Huske, editor of The Bridge World, has insisted upon becoming specialist in two notrump contracts, while Mr. Walter Mallowan has preserved the right to play other notrump contracts.

Mr. Oswald Jacoby will play all hopeless hands to go down as little as possible. Mr. Jacoby, through his psychic bidding, has had years of experience in playing hopeless contracts.

Mrs. Emory Clement will have a special job of underleading Aces, and Mrs. O. J. Elliland is reserved to the job of playing a difficult contract.

In addition to the players, there will be a large staff of nonplayers, such as the manager, the trainer, the alibi artist, the weeper, the glazer, three glaziers—the latter to be called would be to rummage in their piece bags to find just the scraps to express their moods.

The triangles in the two corners, one with a flowered pattern and the other with the small coral barret and one may be of the same material. Or they may be repeated in the various blocks in their respective places. Or they may vary according to the pieces one has on hand.

But the four points of each crown and the base of that crown should be made of the same material.

Send for the full size pattern for this quilt. Instructions as to method of obtaining it are printed at the end of the column.

No allowance has been made for seams in the pattern. That means you must add one quarter inch on all sides. This quarter inch is taken up in the piecing. The finished block will be ten inches square.

This pattern may be put together with strips of white connecting the blocks. Or it may be made into an all-over design.

A border of points may be used, or the blocks may extend the full size of quilt using a strip of white cut bias to bind the edges.

These call for quilts 72 inches wide and 90, 98 or 108 inches long.

The actual pattern for the Queen's Quilt Design may be obtained by sending three cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Nancy Page in care of the Atlanta Constitution. Back patterns may be secured by sending an additional three cents for each pattern requested.

FR ENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Could it possibly be a by-product of the depression?—a pile of letters from men seeking advice as to how they may win the hearts of the fair ones? Most of the letters in this pile indicate that impetuosity accounts for their having been written. Or perhaps these men have been frightened out of their complacent attitude by a recent statistical report that says in the United States there are now 973 women for every 1,000 men. Not enough women to go around! However it may come about, this unusual collection of letters is a most interesting one, for in times past this column has received precious few such requests.

A man with money in his pocket is inclined to be a bit cocky. He frequently labors under the erroneous impression that his eloquent rattle is the most convincing voice heard. He is often the harbinger of the delusion that whatever deficiencies he may have, mental or moral, money will fill the gaps. He fancies that no ordinary woman can stop her ears, or turn her back upon, and walk away from the sweet music of clinking coins. But empty his pocket and his cockiness diminishes. Rob him of the power of possession and his red comb, the emblem of his power, turns a little pale and has a trifle. His impetuosity is not dead, only indisposed.

Young swains! I'll tell you how a man wins a woman: By loving her. Love is a thousand nameless ways, as well as by word of mouth. Not with a dog-like devotion that forgets dignity, not with a wolfish passion that ignores divinity, but with a tender, yet strong affection which breaks down one by one the barriers that seem to shut him out of the woman's heart; an affection that increases his own self-respect, yet makes a man dependent on the one for whom he feels this affection.

Money may talk but the average young girl doesn't hear what it says so long as there is enough cash in pocket to pay the price of the simple amusements that young people enjoy: a movie, a meal, a dance, a football game, and a few "university" gifts, with some candy and corsages thrown in for good measure. In love with love, that's what she and money is for the lack of considerations. She hasn't yet discovered how too much of it, or too little of it may have a disastrous effect on her romance.

If anything, love is too indifferent to the subject of money.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

by MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

With Christmas over, and less than a week left in 1932, the Junior League has already begun planning for the new year that is just before us. One of the phases of Junior League work that we here will make a great deal of progress in 1933 is our Placement Bureau, which has Mrs. Turner Jones as chairman, and Mrs. Park and Mrs. Hunt as co-chairmen.

The Placement Bureau has already

Mr. TURNER JONES, president of the Atlanta League, said that he had been elected to the post in the fall of 1931, but received a fresh impulse to assist in the work of the Atlanta League when he met Mr. Clare Tinsley, of the Charity Organization Society of New York, inspired those who attended the Institute for the Blind at Atlanta, Ga., to form a Junior League. Following the visit in his fall of Miss Lettie Witherspoon, one of the field welfare secretaries of the Atlanta League, the league determined to develop one of its own projects. Since that time Mrs. Jones has been steadily at work.

The idea of the system is simply to have the league approach the heads of the various charitable organizations and discover if there is a need for men to be instructed in the Atlanta League.

A letter received from Mrs. G. Kenner, a former Atlantan, announced that the first bridge teaching convention to be sponsored by the Jacksonville Junior League where Mrs. Kenner is now a member. This convention will take place at the Hotel Jacksonville, Fla., for the first week in January, and P. Hal Sims and Sir Derrick Wernher will be present to give a full normal course to those inquiring. The league will supply the details of duplicate tournament management and later will quiz each teacher and award certificates of merit. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Josephine Letting, Carling Bridge Studio, Carling Hotel, Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. J. C. Harris Jr., our treasurer again urges all members to pay their dues unless they wish to be present at the January meeting. Our association dues must be sent very shortly and we do not want to cause an embarrassing delay.

Already established Junior League committee, or in some volunteer position suggested by the different civic organizations.

Mrs. Jones has already started the interviews, beginning alphabetically.

*News of Society
In Ormewood Park*

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Granger, of Bogata, Columbia, spent the week-end with their mother, Mrs. A. O. Granger, and their sister, Mrs. W. A. Han-round several who have expressed a dislike for the particular work they are now doing and are only too glad to co-operate in finding some new job where their talents may better be employed.

The only apparent disadvantages in

The only apparent disadvantage in the Placement Bureau is that the members may become so interested in outside work that the regular committees within the League may be neglected. This has not proved true in other Leagues all over the country.

PANAMA, Canal Zone, Dec. 26.—(By Press Cable to The Constitution.)—The Georgia Tech football party will boast quite a menagerie by the time the boys arrive in Atlanta. The players inspected Panama City today and then stopped off at Colon. Three of them purchased monkeys to bring home as live souvenirs. Monkeys are a cheap commodity here. All members of the squad survived the long voyage through the canal in good health and spirits. The next stop is Havana, then Key West and home.

TRAILING THE GEORGIA TECH FOOTBALL TEAM.—(By Air Mail)—Dec. 26.—Brutus Hamilton, former Missouri track star and a member of the 1920 and 1924 Olympic team, is the new track coach at California. He coached last at Kansas.

Hamilton, who helped entertain the Georgia Tech football party in Berkeley, recalled what he believes to be the funniest story of his track experience. It concerned Bill Hayward, the veteran track coach at Oregon. "In 1920 we were on the way over," said Hamilton. "I was entered in the decathlon and we were doing some practice on board for the shot. We had the 16-pound lead shot. We drew a circle on deck and I tried first. We had been a little short."

"I tossed the shot forward, 16 pounds of lead, and it struck the top of the rail and bounded over into the ocean."

"And Bill Hayward rushed to the rail and looked over, in all seriousness, TO SEE IF THE SHOT HAD SUNK."

"It was the only shot we had and we couldn't practice any more. But I'll never forget Hayward rushing over to see if the lead had sunk."

Hamilton has a track stadium to work his team in—a stadium which seats about 30,000.

REAL MATERIAL.

The basketball material on the coast is wonderful in appearance even if it doesn't work out—which it may—as a team.

The California basketball squad, the selected variety, was made up of 26 men—and 25 of them were more than six feet tall and were fast and shifty. The twenty-sixth man was a Jap, who covered the floor like a flame. And how those boys believe in playing. They still employ plenty of bodily contact.

Someone asked Nibs Price, the coach, what system he used. "None at all," he said. "That's what confuses the scouts. If we don't know what we are using they can't."

COACH ALEXANDER'S TIPS.

Some years ago Coach W. A. Alexander, of Tech, had to coach a basketball team at Tech. He had never played.

"I said to them," says Alex in telling of those days, "Boys, there are the hoops. The ball is smaller than the hoops. The idea is to get the ball in there. The other fellow will be trying to prevent it. Now, let's play."

Which was an exaggeration as Coach Alex's team was a pretty good one, winning several games. Basketball was a rough and tumble game in those days.

ONCE IN EVERY "GENERATION."

Bill Ingram, head coach at California, wants to take his football team south "once in every football generation."

He'd like it to be Tech. "Gosh, but I like this Georgia Tech," he said. "I like the way they play. They hit hard and they play hard. I don't see how Alex does the job he does. He doesn't have the material we have out here. But he gets out a smart, well-coached team. I'd rather play it than any team in the south."

Ingram seems to be "set" at California after a rather stormy year or so. He's popular with most of the alumni.

TECH'S "METHODS" APPROVED.

Mike Chambers, Tech trainer, and the splendid supervisor of the players, won much favorable comment for the Tech team and administration. Tech's care and supervision of her team was equal to that of any on the coast.

Football requires supervision. Parents of players at Georgia Tech may know that their sons are playing under the best of care and supervision. Mike Chambers is an expert trainer. There are many trainers who do not know what is beneath the skin. There are still some who make up preparations or "liniments" for rubbing or caring for injured muscles.

That, of course, is antiquated. The modern trainer must really know anatomy. He must know what is wrong inside. And Chambers meets all those requirements.

DR. HENRY MCGEEHEE.

Dr. Henry McGeehee, who accompanied the team, also did commendable work. He checked what might have been an epidemic of influenza.

And it required real work. The trip out, through sub-zero weather, was dangerous. Without Dr. McGeehee it would have been serious.

This Is Tough Break; Tulane Loses Redheads

Wave's Famous Girl Cheer Leaders To Be Graduated in June.

By Malcolm Yates,

United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.—(U.P.)—The Green Wave will not only lose Don Zimmerman, Scalfide and other great grid warriors this year, but will also lose its two famous red-headed girl cheer leaders who have roused Tulane enthusiasm to a high pitch during three years of hard-fought contests.

Helen Bradley and Ida Rittenberg, seniors at Newcomb College, affiliated with Tulane, will graduate the coming spring. As yell leaders they have made a unique reputation and have participated in some of the south's greatest football classics.

Miss Bradley, a small, colorful girl, who slips with ease from her class in German to the football gridiron, led the cheering for her team in Tulane's memorable Rose Bowl contest last New Year's day.

"It was simply thrilling," she said.

"It is a magnificent spectacle to see so many thousands of people keyed to such high pitch of enthusiasm."

She said that when she first started as a yell leader she was always excited and nervous just before the game. But that feeling disappeared with the first yell and after that I felt fine.

Miss Rittenberg said that she found the problem of keeping "fit" for such strenuous work difficult at first. "But I took up dancing and participated in as many sports at school as I could manage until finally I discovered I could move without gasping the morning after the game," she said.

Both girls have kept scrapbooks, filled with press notices that have been published throughout the south and in other sections where Tulane has fought on the gridiron.

Miss Bradley said that her greatest disappointment was the fact that she was not able to help Miss Rittenberg lead in the cheering at the L. S. U.-Tulane game. Like many of the football players, Miss Bradley will miss the cheering.

"It was tough luck," she said, and one immediately got the impression

QUIMET'S MOTHER DIES.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Dec. 26.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Mary Quimet, 71, mother of Francis Quimet, former national amateur golf champion, died today at her home after an illness of three months.

The widow of Arthur Quimet, who died 10 years ago, Mrs. Quimet leaves besides Francis two sons, Wilfred and Raymond, and a daughter, Mrs. Louise M. Mossitt.

TULANE TESTS GEORGIA TEAM TONIGHT

Bulldogs in First College Game; Kentucky Looks Good.

By Dillon Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

The first test of the season for the University of Georgia basketball team, last year's Southern conference champion, comes on Tuesday night in New Orleans against Tulane University's quintet.

The Greenies will offer Coach Rex Enright's revamped Bulldog outfit its first serious opposition in a two-game series Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Georgia already has won two contests against independent amateur teams.

Not only will the games with Tulane be a test for Georgia but the results of these engagements may shed some light on the real strength of Kentucky's club. The Lexington Wildcats handed Tulane a pair of one-sided defeats last week and now rank as the favorite to win the first South-eastern conference game crown.

In his first season at Georgia a year ago, Enright molded a team that grew stronger each week and finally swept through the annual tournament to the championship. Enright faces a much tougher job this year for four of his five regulars from the title-winning club were lost through graduation.

Vernon "Catfish" Smith, captain and guard; Pap Terrell and Tommy Moran, forwards; and Bill Strickland, center, are missing. Only Leroy Younts, an All-Southern guard, is back and Enright has reconstructed his 1932 team around him. Pound and Costa, reserves last year, and Virlyn Moore are the forwards, with Chandler and O'Kelly as guards and Chapman and Webb as centers.

Moore is a former Emory athlete who is playing his first year at Georgia. He is a senior. Buck Chapman is a sophomore and was a star half-back on the football team last fall.

Georgia now is a member of the Southeastern conference. Most of the Southeastern teams delay the opening of their college season until early January but Tulane, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Clemson and Vanderbilt are among those which have games arranged during the holidays.

Tennessee plays Tulane in New Orleans Friday and Saturday. Kentucky enters intercollegiate play Friday night against the University of Chicago in Chicago and on Saturday entertains Clemson at Lexington. Vanderbilt plays Ohio State in Nashville Saturday.

The first week of the new year finds five more teams—Sewanee, Florida, Georgia Tech, Alabama and Louisiana State—opening their season.

CLARENCE DE MAR, MARATHONER WHO RUNS 5 MILES DAILY, WAS TOLD TO "TAKE WALKS" BY A DOCTOR, WHO THOUGHT HE NEEDED EXERCISE.

COACHES MUST REPLACE HALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Confronted by no such pressing problems as beset them last year, when the football death toll brought on a public demand for a change in the rules, college coaches and athletic directors tomorrow open their annual four-day convention in the 1932 gridiron campaign.

Among those scheduled to address the coaches tomorrow are Floyd Eastwood, of New York University, who will report on football injuries and fatalities; Gil Dobie, Cornell coach, who will discuss the college football rules; and Major Ralph I. Sasse, retiring coach at West Point, Adam Walsh, assistant coach at Yale, and Dr. Eddie O'Brien, noted eastern referee.

The meeting will continue through Wednesday with the annual banquet and "Brown Derby" story-telling contest that night. By that time the coaches will have drafted some member as president to succeed Dr. Marvin A. (Ma) Stevens, retiring coach at Yale.

McGugin probably will be elected without opposition by the gridiron teachers who assemble for their annual two-day meeting at Hotel Pennsylvania tomorrow. He would succeed Dr. Marvin A. (Ma) Stevens, retiring coach at Yale.

McGugin is first vice president. W. H. Cowell, of New Hampshire University, secretary-treasurer of the association, explained tonight. "And it's the usual procedure simply to move the first vice president into the presidency."

There will probably be little or no competition for this job because it has come to be regarded as the "Jonah" position of football.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Dan McGugin, head coach at Vanderbilt University, is believed headed for football's "Jonah job"—president of the American Football Coaches' Association.

McGugin probably will be elected without opposition by the gridiron teachers who assemble for their annual two-day meeting at Hotel Pennsylvania tomorrow. He would succeed Dr. Marvin A. (Ma) Stevens, retiring coach at Yale.

There will probably be little or no competition for this job because it has come to be regarded as the "Jonah" position of football.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Harry S. Knox, of Chicago, first vice president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, today was named by the governing committee for president in 1933, the first man from the Midwest to be so honored since Dwight W. Davis, donor of the international cup, was elected to the office in 1923.

Knox succeeds Louis W. Carruthers, of New York, president for two years, who declined to be considered for re-nomination because of the press of business interests.

The nomination is the culmination of a "revolt" by certain eastern elements in the association and the Midwest. Carruthers, however, prospects are good for next season, if the line holds up. The line lost Williamson, Cantrell, Marovsky and Cox.

Purdue apparently will have the classic backdrop in the Big Ten, losing only Horstman. The Roller-makers' problem is their line, which loses Moss, Metz, Lettinger, Janeczek, Oehler and Westerman.

Utah has the nucleus of a strong team in 1933, as has Auburn.

CONCESSION. One concession was made to the "old guard" in the insertion of the name of Holcombe Ward, president of the Eastern Association, as first vice president ahead of Joseph W. Ivy, of Kansas City, who was in line for promotion from the second vice presidency.

Davis was co-owner of Phar Lap, the red terror from New Zealand, which won the handicap last March, in his first appearance in America and his last race.

Second "Phar Lap" Is Pillow Fight. AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Lou Anger, vice president of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, announced today he had received from D. J. Davis the nomination for pillow fight. Australian 3-year-old, for the $50,000 Agua Caliente handicap March 20.

Davis was co-owner of Phar Lap, the red terror from New Zealand, which won the handicap last March, in his first appearance in America and his last race.

COLLEGES LOSE NUMEROUS STARS FROM 1932 RANKS

Army and Texas Christian Cut; Auburn Has Nucleus.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Graduation will eliminate many husky regulars from the nation's 11 leading football teams of 1932 but remaining veterans and new material offer bright prospects for most of these colleges next season.

A survey reveals that Army, one of the strong eastern combinations, and Texas Christian, champion of the Southwest conference, will be hardest hit by commencement ceremonies in June. Army's squad suffers an unprecedented decimation of 28 men, and T. C. U. loses 15.

Colgate, which registers the best 1932 record of any college team in the country, will part with including several stars. Notre Dame will be minus nine lettermen, the same number leaving the Utah Utes, five-time champions of the Rocky Mountain conference.

DIXIE TEAMS. Purdue and Auburn each lose eight big-letter wearers, while Nebraska, Big Six champion, will string along without six of its best gridlers. The mighty Pitt Panthers will need five important replacements, the same number to be refilled by Michigan Big Ten titleholder. University of Southern California is fortunate in losing only three first-string men.

Army's plight seems the most serious. The Cadets' brand-new head coach, Lieutenant Gar Davidson, will take over the helm just after the greatest football exodus in West Point's history. He will have only three first-stringers left from Major Ralph Sasse's 1932 eleven. They are Jahousky, right guard; Captain Kopsch, right end; and Brown, right halfback. It seems a colossal task to fill the vacancies for the first team and to develop reserves necessary for one of the stiffest schedules ever mapped out for an Army eleven.

Texas Christian, although a heavy loser, faces a brighter outlook. The 1933 squad will be made up of fair 1932 junior and sophomore players whose abilities were hidden this year by the brilliant work of the veterans. The team probably will not be as strong as this year's, but it should make a good showing.

Southern California, Nebraska, Pittsburgh and Notre Dame appear most likely to produce outstanding teams in 1933.

THANS HIT. U. S. C. loses only three first-stringers: Ernie Smith, All-American tackle; Captain Tay Brown, tackle; and Ray Spurling, end. The rest of its splendid line guards as well as its brilliant varsity backfield.

Nebraska loses Ely, All-American center; Hufert, tackle; and a pair of speedy backs, Mathis and Stanb. However, George Sauer, Jack Miller and Bernie Masterson, three ace backs, will remain. In addition there is plenty of seasoned line material available and a wealth of possibilities in the 1932 freshmen and sophomore players.

Pittsburgh will be hard hit by the loss of Warren Heller, Captain Paul Reidler, backs; Joe Torney, center; Paul Viba, tackle; and Ted Dalley, end. But Pittsburgh is a master at developing new material and he has promising manpower in the freshmen and sophomore ranks, as well as many holdover stars.

Notable among Notre Dame's graduates will be Jaskiwich, Murphy, Sheelkies and Kamen, backs; Host, Greener, Hartman, Kunkin and Kosky, linemen. But the Irish hopes are bright because Coach "Hunk" Anderson has a wealth of holdover material, including Melnikov, center; Lukats, Banas, Branchette, backs; Krause, Robinson, Gorman, Devore, Flynn and Wunch, linemen.

COLGATE LOSES ASK. From Colgate's tricks backfield will be graduated Ask, Antolini and Rowe. Captain Bob Smith, All-American guard; Van Heusen, linemen; Conroy, B. Ellis, Evans, Hill, Lee, Nield and Prondick. Coach Andy Kerr expects to build a formidable machine again in 1933 with holdover and new material.

Michigan's chief loss will be Harry Newman, quarterback and sparkplug on the eleven. However, prospects are good for next season, if the line holds up. The line lost Williamson, Cantrell, Marovsky and Cox.

Purdue apparently will have the classic backdrop in the Big Ten, losing only Horstman. The Roller-makers' problem is their line, which loses Moss, Metz, Lettinger, Janeczek, Oehler and Westerman.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Marco Hecht, former New York schoolboy tennis star and now of the University of Pennsylvania, will seek his third national indoor junior singles title in the 1933 junior and boys tournament opening tomorrow at the seventh regiment armory.

Sixty-four "juniors" and the same number of "boys" are entered in the two classifications of play with all of them scheduled to see action in the first day.

Hecht is seeded in the top half of the draw with Friedman and Negrady while Hebard heads the lower half with Verstraten slated as his semifinal opponent.

Boys' High Five To Play 14 Games. Fourteen basketball games have been scheduled by Boys' High prep league which will not participate in the winter sport as an organization.

Lanier High will open the Purple card on January 6 at Macon. Other games follow with Monroe, Darlington, Columbus, Albany, G. M. A. and Spartanburg, S. C. A series of games with Tech High also will be arranged and added to the schedule at a later date.

The schedule follows: January 6—Lanier at Macon. January 12—Monroe at Monroe. January 13—Darlington at Darlington. January 14—Canton at Canton. January 15—Columbia at Columbia.
